

Mars attacks

Alert! Alert!

Mars is about to hit the shores of Honolulu.

Mars, the international DJ known for his cybertrance style of electronica (think anything you would hear at a Berlin rave), brings his save-the-rave party to—where else?—Galaxy Night Club.

Mars headlines Frequency 8, his traveling DJ tour, Saturday for an all-night dance party.

Frequency 8 is going into its 11th year. Back in its formative days—and let's face it—when raves were still the thing, the party was exclusively cybertrance. Now, the event has expanded to include all genres of dance music.

West Coast trance and breakbeat best will also be on hand with DJ Monkey from San Francisco and Seattle's Luke Skye and Soundwave.

The local DJ lineup represents the best of the electronica talent pool with G-Spot, PSI, Dawn and Ikon.

Dust off your pacifiers and glow sticks, it's gonna be a long night.
